

Faculty & Partner Engagement opportunities

Honors faculty bridge intellectual boundaries, and re-imagine the world around them through unique academic lenses — and challenge students to do the same.

Faculty Fellows

This esteemed distinction is granted to faculty who make substantial contributions to Pitt Honors. Faculty Fellows:

- Mentor students in research and scholarship projects
- Promote, plan, and participate in UHC programming
- Serve on application committees
- Serve in a leadership role in UHC Scholar Communities
- Teach honors courses
- Represent Pitt Honors to their departments

Benefits

- Eligible to apply for 1-time grants for experiential learning or research opportunities.
- Opportunities to mentor Pitt's most ambitious students.
- Support for collaborations between departments, with chances to connect with scholars in different fields.

Affiliated Faculty

Faculty who support honors academic programs can be recognized with an Affiliated Faculty distinction for teaching honors courses or engaging in UHC Scholar Communities.

Benefits

- Eligible to request funds to enhance your course.
- Flexibility to focus on timely, cutting-edge topics in small classes.

Scholars of Practice

Partnering industry, government, and nonprofit leaders who offer extensive experience addressing critical 21st century issues. They participate in UHC programming, engage with the UHC Scholar Communities, and serve as catalysts for research, experiential learning, and discussion for students.

Benefits

- Opportunities to connect with and guide some of Pitt's most ambitious students.
- Join a network of scholars in different fields collaborating on critical global issues.

All affiliations are appointed by the UHC Dean for a renewable 3-year term. If you're interested, please contact Everett Herman at everettherman@pitt.edu.
